Final Words

International News Service
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—For future historians, the epitaph of Lord Lothian probably will be his plea for further American aid to Britain.

In his last prepared address, which he was unable to deliver personally last night because of his illness, the British ambassador concluded with this solemn note:

"If you back us, you will not be backing a quitter. The issue now depends largely on what you decide to do. No body can share that responsibility with you. It is the great strength of democracy that it brings responsibility down squarely to every citizen and every nation.

"And before the judgment seat of God each must answer for his own actions."

British Navy Aiding Attack

Pounds Italian Communications In North African Drive

COORDINATION OF FORCES IS SEEN

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—How the British navy is pounding Italian communications in North Africa and disorganizing the Fascist retreat west of fallen Sidi Barrani in Egypt was described by the admiralty in a dramatic communique today.

Light and heavy units of the British Mediterranean fleet are participating in this action, the communique said.

The admiralty's statement shed still further light on the powerful co-ordination of mechanized land and sea forces in the British Egyptian offensive, which, while still in its preliminary stages, is threatening to become as great a rout for the Italians as their withdrawal from Southern Albania after being thrown out of Greece.

Navy Disorganizes Retreat

"The navy continues to play a part in disorganizing the Italian retreat in North Africa," the admiralty said.

"Both heavy and light units of the Mediterranean fleet are continually harassing Italian communications."

Negro Confesses To Brutal Attack On Wealthy Woman

Faces 30 Years In Prison For Criminal Assault And Attempted Killing

(International News Service)
GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 12.—Speedy prosecution today faced John Spell, 31, a mild-appearing Negro, who cracked after 16 hours of grilling and signed a confession substantially confirming, according to police, the story of a night of horror told by a socially prominent Mrs. John K. Strubing, 32, in whose home he was employed as chauffeur-butler.

His alibi broken, Spell confessed to making Mrs. Strubing a prisoner in her own home as she emerged from a shower bath, criminally assaulting her four times and then attempting to drown her in Kenosia reservoir over the New York state line.

Menacing her with a long knife, Mrs. Strubing said, Spell forced her to write a note demanding $5,000 from her husband as ransom. She succeeded in convincing him, she related, that a kidnapping was impossible and the note was later torn up.

Spell was to be arraigned in magistrate's court today on charges carrying up to 30 years imprisonment upon conviction and was expected to be held over for court.

Mrs. Strubing, found wandering in a dazed and hysterical condition, was in a hospital.

Italian Stronghold Of Tepeleni Is Placed Under Artillery Fire By Advance

By A. E. ANGELOPOULOS
International News Service Special Correspondent

ATHENS, Dec. 12.—Greek troops pushed forward on three different sectors of the Albanian front today after hammering back Italian forces who put up "violent resistance."

The high command communique, announcing the continued Greek drive, added that "some prisoners and booty fell into our hands."

Latest military advices received in Athens stated that the Greek advance was continuing according to plan and that the Italians had been forced to retreat northward from the Argirocastro and coastal areas to the hills surrounding Chimarra.

Claim Resistance Broken

In the Premeti region, it was claimed, all Fascist resistance broke down and Greek troops occupied hills of "great strategic value," according to the Athens radio.

Still further north, authorities indicated, a series of Greek bayonet charges took a 5,000-foot peak. The Italians made several vain counterattacks in their efforts to recapture this position, but failed completely, it was stated.

The Greek offensives are now aimed at the seaport of Valona, the inland highway junction of Tepeleni and the Italian base at Elbasan, which is the key defense post guarding Tirana, capital of Albania.

(BULLETIN)
ROME, Dec. 12.—Attack upon Marshal Pietro Badoglio, former chief of staff of the Italian armed forces, was voiced today by Roberto Farinacci, editor of the newspaper regime fascist and chief spokesman for the fascist party.

In a brief but pungent editorial Farinacci accused Badoglio of failing to prepare properly for the Italian campaign against Greece and of "attempting to shift responsibility by lies."

At the time of his retirement, an official announcement said that Badoglio had been relieved of responsibility at his own request.

Churchill Says Most Of Three Italian Army Divisions Probably Held

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—The "best part" of three Italian divisions are probably now in British hands and the remnants of Premier Mussolini's Egyptian forces are being mercilessly attacked Prime Minister Winston Churchill told a cheering house of commons today.

Britain's capture of Sidi Barrani Churchill said, "constitutes a victory of the first order."

"It has removed our former acute anxiety regarding the defense of Egypt," the prime minister said.

"The British guarantee that Egypt would be defended against all comers has been made good."

"The whole Sidi Barrani coastal region with the exception of one or two points lies in the hands of British imperial troops."

"Seven thousand prisoners have already reached Mersa Matruh. It would not be surprising if at least the best part of three Italian divisions, including numerous black-shirt formations, have been destroyed or captured."

"Pursuit to the westward continues with greatest vigor. Our Navy shelling the principal road open to the retreating enemy. A considerable number of additional captures have been reported besides those within the original encirclement."

Official announcement regarding the Birmingham attack indicated the German planes had inflicted a "certain amount of damage" and started a number of fires.

London also was bombed during the night.

The first alarm was given when about 20 raiders approached the London area. British fighters quickly engaged the German craft and chased them away in a series of air combats. Some bombs were dropped.

Italian Forces In Full Retreat Cairo Reports

"General Retreat" Results From Capture Of Sidi Barrani By British

LARGE NUMBERS OF ITALIANS CAPTURED

Possibly 34,000 Fascist Troops Are Bottled Up By British Drive

By W. P. SAPHIRE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Dec. 12.—With their lines of communications cut, harassed by the royal air force and bombarded by the British navy, Italian forces west of captured Sidi Barrani are now staging a "general retreat," according to advices received in Cairo late today.

More than 20,000 Italian and native troops have been captured by the British in the four-day campaign, according to the latest official estimate.

Reconnaissance flights by R. A. F. planes indicate that the Italians are now withdrawing from their bitterly contested bases in eastern Egypt with all possible speed, military information said.

News of the Fascist retreat reached Cairo coincident with disclosure that two full Italian divisions, possibly totalling 34,000 men, have been bottled up in the Sidi Barrani zone by Britain's swiftly advancing forces.

General Killed

Death of General Pietro Maletti, a veteran of fighting in Libya and Somaliland, almost at the outset of Britain's drive for Sidi Barrani was hailed in Cairo as indication that British forces had overcome one of their chief obstacles to dominance in the desert.

Maletti was in command of a "flying" armored column especially equipped for desert fighting. His regiment had considerable nuisance value and was regarded as a potential threat to the British southern flank.

This threat has now been eliminated with the commander's death, military officials said.

Britain's latest advances were aided by huge quantities of war materials seized as the Italians fled Sidi Barrani.

The latest British triumph sent surviving Italians rushing backward toward Libya in a confused withdrawal, continually pounded by the mechanized British North African army.

Capture 10,000 To 20,000

Large numbers of Italians, however, were unable to participate even in the retreat. Unofficial estimates in Cairo said between 10,000 and 20,000 Italian troops, including three generals and officers of virtually all ranks, were seized along with large stocks of war equipment when the British occupied the important seaport.

Say American Music Is Now Getting Break

(International News Service)

PIITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—Helen Jepson and John Charles Thomas, famed concert stars, agreed today that American music is getting a long-deserved "break."

Miss Jepson, a native of Titusville, was in Pittsburgh with her husband for a benefit concert to-night for the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra and the "musical Americana" program.

"The old tradition has been broken. It is no longer necessary to start a concert with Handel and Bach,"

Thomas said that artists have been ignoring American music because of "intellectual smugness," and because "they have been afraid of criticism."

"I deliberately sing American music," he added. Indifference to American music is due to the fact that they are simply not heard. Someone has to introduce it to the public. No matter what group of songs I sing, there is some one in an audience who thinks they are lousy, but I have no qualms about criticism. I have a hard shell and I use my own judgment."

Waiting Time For Compensation May Be Reduced

Likely To Be Cut To Two Weeks—State Fund Totals Over $135,000,000

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—A joint legislative committee today announced it will recommend to the 1941 legislature the reduction from three weeks to two of the waiting period required before unemployed workers can receive their unemployment compensation.

The committee, which has been engaged for months in a study of the unemployment compensation laws, also disclosed it will recommend other changes.

Approximately $5,000,000 in additional unemployment benefits will result from the changes, it was predicted, without increasing the employers' costs.

The unemployment compensation fund from which jobless payments are made at the rate of $15 to $18 a week for a maximum of 15 weeks today totals more than $135,000,000. Since payments began in February 1938, approximately $175,000,000 has been paid from the fund to workers losing their jobs.

A WORTHY PURPOSE

OF general interest recently was the resignation of Joseph P. Kennedy as ambassador to Great Britain, and particularly the news that, after he is relieved of his duties, he expects to assist "the greatest cause in the world today," that of helping the President of the United States keep us out of war.

Just how Mr. Kennedy proposes to go about assisting in this great cause is not known but it is assumed that he will devote a great deal of time to writing and lecturing.

Certainly there will be no disposition on the part of all patriotic Americans to quarrel with Mr. Kennedy in his announced purpose. Keeping the United States out of European war at this time is perhaps the greatest service that could possibly be rendered to our country.

It is a service which will tend toward unity and not dissension in the nation. President Roosevelt announced before the election that his efforts would be directed toward keeping us out of the war. Wendell Willkie, the Republican candidate, declared again and again that, if elected, he would keep us out of war. After the election Mr. Willkie reaffirmed this sound policy and stated that he had the utmost faith the President would keep this pre-election pledge.

The statement of Mr. Kennedy, therefore, is in line with the previous declarations, from high sources, both official and unofficial, on the subject of keeping out of war.

There is no considerable body of opinion in the country which opposes our sending material aid to Great Britain so long as this can be done without injuring our own defensive plans, and so long as it does not violate provisions of our neutrality act.

At the same time there is no responsible body of citizens who believe that Uncle Sam should plunge into the terrible war now going on in Europe. To do so, whether we eventually "win" or "lose" and those are purely figurative terms in a war, the result would be not to preserve democracy for Europe but to lose it for the United States.

If the spirit of democracy is to be saved abroad, certainly this cannot be done by dissipating the resources of the United States, and so bringing on some form of totalitarianism on this side of the Atlantic.

MUSSOLINI'S MISTAKE

Probably the greatest surprise incident to the collapse of Italy in Greece and Albania is the almost complete impotency of the Italian air force. Italy has rather a proud record in aviation, having made several notable contributions to the advancement of flight. In past years her flyers had bombed Ethiopians and Spaniards with gusto.

Mussolini boasted of the power of his air arm more than any other. It was the air arm that was going to clear the British navy out of the Mediterranean and did apparently do Britain some damage by bombing bases.

But Mussolini's air force bit off more than it could chew. The Somaliland drive, the Egyptian thrust and the constant contact with British air and naval forces comprised a full measure for Italian aviation. When it also took on Greece, it was just too much. Italy's scanty supplies could not keep the flyers going.

In their aid of Greece the British bombed the stuffing out of Italian ground bases and supply lines in Albania. The Greeks, maneuvering at will and screening their movements, offer scanty target for the Italians.

Britain, organized on an empire scale, has been able to disperse its air forces to good effect. Italy has been incapable of this and the pay-off came when Mussolini's vaulting ambition led him into Greece, an adventure which the Nazis are now saying was a mistake.

DESPERATE MOVES OF NAZI SHIPS

Determined, but apparently pointless efforts of Nazi freight ships, self-interested at Tampico, Mexico, to get away from there, are beginning to raise serious questions as to what they are really up to.

Recently all four of them—the big Oriente, the Phrygia, the Rhein and the Idarwald—made a dash for it, saw some warships offshore and dashed back, all except the Phrygia which was scuttled. Later, when it developed that the supposed "enemy warships" were American destroyers, the Nazi skippers were rather red in the face.

Finally the Rhein and the Idarwald tried it again. The Rhein is still at large, with odds heavy against her. Near the south coast of Cuba a British cruiser caught up with the Idarwald. As a prize crew was clambering aboard the Nazis scuttled the vessel.

Obviously Nazi ships have something like 100 to 1 chances against them in making good their escapes, particularly to Germany. Why, then, are the German vessels leaving safe harbors, where nobody can bother them, in practically hopeless jaunts into the Caribbean?

The question itself lends strength to suspicions, formerly hinted, that they are being sent out not necessarily to get home, but to carry fuel and supplies to Nazi submarines or disguised raiders like the one that just tangled with the converted British cruiser Carnarvon Castle.

We are anxious to keep incidents of the European war out of the American neutrality zone. But our concern in that direction is overshadowed by one of still deeper importance—the possibility that these flights of Nazi ships are slick attempts to carry aid and comfort to Nazi commerce raiders in the Atlantic. It may become necessary for the 21 American republics to take steps to prevent any more of them.

Canada is banning "luxury" imports from the United States. As a war country Canada is going in for plain fare these days.

The nation's hunting season—or saturnalia—is about over, and final figures may show casualties smaller than those in the bombardment of London.

The Pennsylvania woman who went hunting for the first time with her husband and son and bagged the only deer has more to talk about than if she had had an operation.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LETTERS OF FATHERS TO CHILDREN

My fellow parents who would like to improve their letters to their children away from home ought to read the letters of a very wonderful father to his adolescent son and daughters. I refer to Joel Chandler Harris, known to most of my readers as Uncle Remus. Where is the child who does not enjoy Br'er Rabbit? As you know, it was Joel Chandler Harris and Henry W. Grady who helped make the Atlanta Constitution famous.

You wonder what kind of letters Uncle Remus would write to his sons and daughters. Well, you can read them in the Biography of Joel Chandler Harris by his daughter, Julia Collier Harris, Houghton Mifflin Co., 1918.

Sympathetic Understanding

In his first letter to his son at sixteen went alone from his home in Atlanta to Quebec to spend some months with his grandparents, and who at twenty-one became news editor of the Constitution and at twenty-four its managing editor. "Try to be as respectful to your grandfather and grandmother as possible. Bear in mind that they have lived long out of the world, so to speak, and try not to treat them with that superciliousness so often affected by boys of your age. Remember that learning is merely an accomplishment and not a virtue, and if they seem to you to be ignorant, bear in mind that, in turn, you will seem to be ignorant to your descendants...."

"We are all well here. The place is just as you left it, except the hole made in the air by your absence, and it is a pretty big one, too. I am waiting for those long letters."

More "Lecturing"

From a later letter: "Another thing... when I make a remark or suggestion, don't take it too seriously. You are old enough to have discovered, or, at least, to have suspected, that, except in the matter of morals, it is impossible to map out a young man's career by means of advice. All I can do is to give you some of the results of my experience. I am interested in your progress, and I am interested in seeing you grow up strong-bodied and clean-minded than I am in your career. A clean-minded man will be everything that he should be. I should like to see you with a will strong enough to resist all temptation. Your career will then take care of itself."

Still later: "It is very gratifying to me to know that you have made an impression on people. Lord! Lord! don't disappoint 'em, and don't disappoint your mammy and daddy. (More 'lecturing'.)"

ANCESTRAL

After centuries of search for the Missing Link which was supposed to have connected modern man with evolution with his original ancestors way back there when we were wallowing in the mire as pollywogs and tadpoles, and later as monkeys swinging by our tails from a disinterested scientist declaring that Darwin and his theory was all wrong.

We have leaped with one mighty flip-flop from the state of the saine-thropus (whatever that is) into the modern soft-skinned, (almost) hairless, intellectual boob, described in the inner circles as a homo sapien. This startling revelation comes from Dr. Richard B. Goldschmidt, of Berkeley, former associate of Dr. Albert Einstein, of relatively fame.

When we rescued Dr. Einstein from his unhappy environments in Germany not so long ago and decorated him with the toga of Americanism, it was with some foreboding. He already had put us into a dizzy whirl with his astronomical figures affecting the universe and its origin and destiny. But if he and Dr. Goldschmidt have solved the Missing Link controversy they have made a contribution to science and humanity for which we are everlastingly grateful.

Without any positive knowledge as to our biological origin, many of us were only too well pleased to accept the version of the Holy Bible that "we were created after His own image" and let it go at that.

But along came Darwin with his theory of evolution profoundly aided and abetted by H. G. Wells, another biological radical and traitor, who in his Outline of History traced human origin back to monkeys, slugs, pollywogs, and tadpoles, and insisted that that was where we came from whether we liked it or not.

Welcome Dr. Goldschmidt and Hoch, Herr Einstein! I am again proud of the flesh you love to touch. Science and religion can now lie down together without kicking off the covers.

And on your way, Missing Link, I never could wait up to monkeys. I was afraid it might be true.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:33. Sun rises tomorrow 7:16.

There are 42 meat markets in New Castle. How many do you know the names of and where they are located.

Then we hear that a first ward family doesn't yet know the Christian names of the new people who have moved in. Seems the newcomers were just married and still call each other honey and darling.

According to latest statistics there are 6,812,000 farms and 31,774,000 farmers in the United States. If those people ever demand a 30-hour week and big pay a lot of people will either have to go to work in the cities or else.

Upon this page I write a poem describing the attitude of most soldiers, regardless of race or creed. I'm just an eighteen year old school kid from East Brook, but I like to put my feelings into words. Following is the poem I wrote:

"Sorry Fritz"
On No-Man's Land kneels an American
Beside him lies a dying German.
The time a dark and dreary night,
Guns and flares make wry sights.
The Yankee speaks; the German hears.
Oh, Christ of Peace! Lend them your ears!

"Sorry, Fritz, I had to do it. I hate this war, I wish GOD knew it. I didn't want that slug to hit. It was my job. I did my bit. I wish to hell I was a digger. I wish I'd never pulled that trigger! O, Christ of Peace! Please hear my plea!"

"I hate this war, Oh, can't you see?"
The German spoke; his eyes were wet.
Upon his face stood beads of sweat.
"It's all right, Yank; it's not your fault."
I should have stopped when you said, "Halt!"

Even I don't like to say.
This war will end, some of these days.
You fight for freedom;
I fight for freedom.

As you said, "Was you or I?"
I'm glad you shot, I want to die!"

Upon his face a smile came.
He closed his eyes; Death made its claim.
The Yankee's hat came off his head.
He knew now that the boy was dead.

He closed his eyes and said this bit:
"I'm sorry, Fritz, I had to do it."
Just a kid.

P. S. This poem refers to the First World War.

If necessity is the mother of invention, the fellow who invented paper handkerchiefs probably had a 40-a-day cold.

"If you are right," says a one line philosopher, "Pay attention to neither praise nor blame." A little praise, however, is more inspiring than a knock.

Making two blades of grass grow where only one grew before is good news to the dealers in lawn mowers.

And there are many mothers who will get a washing machine or lawn mower for a Christmas gift. Most of 'em have now shown that they are still good enough to use.

ALL ABOUT MULES

Being told to write an essay on the mule, a small boy turned in the following effort: "The mule is a harder bird than the guse or turkie."

AND THEN DIVORCE

Someone ought to compile a book of the odd reasons that have been alleged as grounds for divorce. Scribner's Commentator magazine is convinced that such a book would include the following:

Husband keeps baby alligators in the bath.

Wife too fond of consulting spirit of dead first husband.

Husband insists on wife sitting on his knee while he reads the Bible aloud.

Absent for prolonged periods in Gobi desert.

Placing ticks on tails for late homecoming husband.

Punishing wife for growing fat.

Beating wife on anniversary of wedding day.

Husband snores like fog-horn.

Inability of wife to take single trick although holding 13 diamonds.

Some people go to lectures to find out what they think.

Every now and then we read of the local dogcatcher killing about 50 dogs a month. He could get that many in a week on the North Hill.

Now we are told that the gals will wear dresses made out of glass. Well, that will be umpin'.

When we started the day with a laugh, according to directions, you should have seen the way members of the family looked at one another.

We heard of a couple that was invited to a breakfast at 10 o'clock in the morning and they got there at 3:30 in the afternoon.

"What shall I do? I'm engaged to a man who says he simply can't bear children."

"Well, you can't expect too much of a husband."

When you get an out-of-town newspaper thrown at you from your door some out-of-town advertiser is trying to get you to buy at his store. Your own New Castle News and your local stores are better than some who try to coax you to get out-of-town stuff.

LOW LAW

It seems the gate broke down between Heaven and Hell. St. Peter appeared at the broken part of the gate and called out to the devil.

"Hey, Satan. It's your chance to fix it this time."

"Sorry," replied the boss of the land beyond the Styx. "My men are too busy to worry about fixing a mere gate."

"Well, then," scowled St. Peter. "I'll have to sue you for breaking our agreement."

"Oh, yeah," yelled the devil. "Where are you going to get a lawyer?"

A Pittsburgh man paid his hospital bill with 4,980 pennies. Any hospital will be glad to take pennies rather than get nothing at all as they do so often.

They're telling of a Florida vacationist who caught a fish so large he didn't believe it.

Very often the candidate who spends the most money does not win. It's still the votes that count most.

An Ohio undertaker has been arrested for killing his brother-in-law. That's one funeral he will not get.

Over three million dollars were spent in the presidential campaign in Pennsylvania. Lots of people would rather have the money.

You needn't feel useless. They also serve who only howl for action to keep officials on their toes.

What's What At A Glance

Britain Once Frowned On Ship Building
John Bull Could Use Many Of Our Ships
Boats Cannot Be Built Fast Enough Now

By CHARLES P. STEWART

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.—I can remember when John Bull wasn't nearly as much interested in the development of this country's maritime facilities as he is at present. In fact, he strongly objected to it.

He found no particular fault with our maintenance of a respectable tonnage of fighting craft but emphatically he disliked the idea of the upbuilding of an American merchant fleet of any considerable proportions. Back in the old clipper ship days our bottoms did a good bit of the ocean's cargo carrying. But that time passed. Railroaded pay better than overseas activities did.

We concentrated on inland exploitation. Our maritime marine petted out to be nearly zero. We did lots of "importing" and "exporting" but it was done in English vessels.

World war No. 1 caught us with next to nothing to carry on our foreign trade. England, while the conflict lasted, could not continue handling it for us in sufficient volume and we were in bad shape for quite awhile. Of course, our shipyards got busy immediately, working overtime. By Armistice day we had a decent little fleet of cargo boats in operation. It wasn't as big as we needed to do all our trading, but the experience had taught us that it was most undesirable for us to be dependent on foreign boats to transact international business in. So we kept on building.

British Resentment

But, the war being over, the English thought they ought to have their old monopoly back. They bitterly resented our evident inclination to cut in upon it permanently. At that juncture I was living in Buenos Aires where the competition between our bottoms and England's was exceedingly obvious. Consequently the talk of local English interests' spokesmen was very audible to me. It wasn't official but there was a lot of it.

The purport of it, in short, was that we simply didn't have a right to possess a merchant fleet of any consequence. "We've got the ships," said those Britons. "For you Yankees to do your exporting and importing in. Hire OURS, then. Don't do a lot of your own building. It's abominable sportsmanship."

At that stage of the game the British weren't overly enthusiastic concerning the notion of having our navy (fighting craft) tie theirs.

Back in Washington from South America in the 1920's, I was on hand to cover the international armament limitation conference of that decade—the one that led up to the conclusion of the 5-5-3 treaty. That is, Britain's navy was to be on a five basis. Ours ditto. Japan's ratio was three. France and Italy were accorded smaller allowances.

Nominally we and the British got an even break. There were qualifying clauses, however, which gave John Bull distinctly the better of the bargain.

Well, the 5-5-3 treaty has gone into the discard. None of its signatories lived up to it.

But the difference between John Bull's tone of voice right after World war No. 1 and today!

It's Another Story

At the current writing we can't build ships of any sort fast enough to meet British requirements. Britain wants 'em. It wants more destroyers—up to date as well as obsolete. It also wants bigger boats—cruisers and battleships and plane carriers, with planes to go with 'em.

It wants our neutrality law modified to permit American cargo craft to get into British waters with supplies of every variety. It wants us to build more and more such boats, for Britain itself to acquire title to—if it can get 'em on credit.

Back in the 1920's we were Uncle Shylock.

Now British Ambassador Lord Lothian's applying at the same loan counter for some more of the same.

Our tone of voice is different likewise. We didn't enjoy having John Bull find fault with our growing merchant marine directly after World war No. 1. We didn't enjoy being called Uncle Shylock.

Today we say, "Oh, well, Britain, in reality, is fighting our battle."

Doubtless it's true. Nevertheless I can't but recall the 1920's. Oh, what a difference in the morning!

THE chief trouble is that the Defense Department named by the President to do the job is without a head and also without power. It can neither direct its own work competently nor compel the industries with which it must deal to reorganize in the interest of competency. The result is that costly pile-up of friction, delays, army and navy red tape increases, and there is a visible sagging all along the line. Under the circumstances, the commission does amazingly well, because it is composed of able men, but no man, however able, could do the job in the way it should be done under such handicaps.

NOW, this, like the cockeyed financial policy, certainly justifies "pointing with alarm" and a good many people have been pointing for nearly five months since the commission was created. But where has it got them? Exactly nowhere.

JOBS

How many jobs a fellow tries before he settles down and dies? Jobs of all sorts, somehow, designed.

The utmost worth of him to find. To test his spirit and to learn. How far he'll go; how much he'll earn.

What for himself he wants to make. And that he'll do for others' sake.

Last night, the while we sat about Two of us tried to figure out. And list the various jobs we'd had. Since each was just a little lad.

First they were school boy, brother, son. Each bringing duties to be done. Playmate and—mornings when we could—

Errand boy for the neighborhood. Members of church and Sunday school. Player of games by code and rule!

The customer—ah! there's a post. Which frequently betrays us most! Husband and father, friends in need. Doing the little gracious deed.

All jobs assigned us, one by one. With still more tasks to follow on.

How do you know you could manage the lives of your neighbors better than they do? The dictators are smart, and look at the mess they make.

Controversy Over Paying Premium On Collector's Bond

School Board Discusses Returns Of Premium Money
To City And Schools

When the next payment of the bond for C. C. McKibben, tax collector for the New Castle school board, comes due it is possible that payment will be refused.

The matter was brought before the board by Solicitor Charles H. Young on Wednesday night when he told the board that in the new arrangement for a bond for McKibben, the agents of the bonding Eagle Bonding company, McBride & Shannon, had returned to the city of New Castle a larger share of the premium money than was due and had refused to return the proper share to the New Castle school board.

Mr. Young stated that the bond was to be paid for equally by the city and school board instead of basing it upon the face of the tax duplicates which had been done.

Mr. Young said the school board of Allentown, Pa., had had similar difficulty and had refused to pay its share when due. The bonding company entered suit and the supreme court reversed their position, saying that the bond premium charged was excessive and ordering the board to be returned its proportionate share of the premium returned.

Formerly the school board provided a bond for McKibben and the city did also. Now the bond is joint. A resolution was passed authorizing the return of the old bond and a demand will be made upon McBride & Shannon for the proper premium return claimed.

The board joined with the city of New Castle in raising the salary of the second deputy of the city treasurer's office from $150 per month to $165 per month.

In Arizona may be seen the Cochise mirage, one of the few permanent mirages in the United States. The mirage is of a lake filled with sparkling water where no water has been found, in memory of men or in any recorded history, except temporarily following heavy rains. This mirage is located in the southeastern corner of the state.

The Great Game Of Politics

The commission still lacks a chairman and it still lacks power. When, if at all, Mr. Roosevelt will change this setup, no one knows. But what practically everybody knows is that the setup is indefensibly wrong and that if the commission had been properly organized, with real power, we would be much further advanced in the matter of defense than we are now.

TIME, labor and money would all have been saved. Time, labor and money are wasted every day the present arrangement continues unaltered. Talk about national unity—of course there should be a national unity, but it should not be a national unity that will permit the President to continue doing this vital job in the least efficient and most expensive way. There should be a national unity that will compel him to correct the glaring deficiencies; to reorganize the commission along common-sense lines and to profit by the experience of the last war instead of disregarding it.

NERVOUSNESS? RESTLESS NIGHTS? Is It Your Kidneys?

Active, normal-acting kidneys and bladder expel from the blood excess acids and poisons—that's their health-giving job. If kidneys are sluggish or inactive, these harmful excess acids and poisons may stay in the blood and spreading through the system cause much misery and distress and bring on ill health in this regard. For instance, lazy kidneys may be to blame if you are nervous, have to get up nights, have dizzy spells, headache, leg cramps or swollen ankles. Better be safe than sorry—try a 35-cent box of GOLD MEDAL Haasler Oil Capsules—a real kidney diuretic and stimulant that may do you a lot of good. They have been helping people for scores of years to correct their aches and pains when caused by lazy, sluggish kidneys. But be sure and ask for and get Gold Medal Haasler Oil Capsules—the genuine—pure and original. Don't be an easy mark and accept a cheap substitute—Look for the GOLD MEDAL on the box—the sign of purity—45 cents.

Half Albania May Be Taken

Greek Forces Advance Despite Furious Resistance
Of Italian Forces

By A. E. ANGELOPOULOS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

ATHENS, Dec. 12.—Italian troops who have battled furiously in an eight-day series of counter-attacks today were reported wavering once more and new Greek successes on all fronts opened the way to capture of half of Albania.

Hellenic advances were swiftest on the southern front northwest of Argyrocastro, but on the central and northern lines, where the Greeks are striking at the heart of Albania, the drive was resumed after a brief set-back.

Reinforced Italian troops, realizing that the slightest additional Greek advance on the Skumbi river and Moscopolis fronts might mean loss of half the country they conquered less than two years ago, put up their hardest fight of the campaign, but advances from the fronts today said the Fascist lines were bending.

GOV. JAMES APPEALS ON SEWING PROJECTS
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Governor Arthur H. James today appealed directly to the head of the Works Projects Administration, Washington, to halt the threatened dismissal of 12,000 women employed on W. P. A. sewing projects.

In a telegram to W. P. A. Commissioner Howard O. Hunter, Gov. James demanded:

"I call on you to stop this paralyzing of unfortunate citizens of Pennsylvania."

The governor informed Hunter that the reason given by Col. Philip Mathews, state WPA administrator, for closing the 250 sewing projects in the state by next Jan. 27, "is that the continuation of the present contribution by the Department of Public Assistance will bring the statewide sponsors' contribution on all projects below 25 percent," the amount required by law.

for complacency. But the British people have stood up to Hitler's air terror in rare style and today show not the least sign of cracking."

Herbert Morrison, home secretary and minister of home security, dynamic little life-long socialist and one of Premier Winston Churchill's team of key-men in charge of Britain's war effort, today thus summed up his official opinion of the behavior of Britain's 47 million people after more than two months of sustained bombing from the air.

State Feud Over W. P. A. Is Apparently Renewed

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—The bitter feud between Gov. Arthur H. James and Federal W. P. A. Administrator Philip Mathews broke out into the open today after lying dormant for more than nine months. The governor, who tangled with the State Federal work-relief administrator earlier in the year over W. P. A. employment, today accused Colonel Mathews of "a deliberate program to destroy" the W. P. A. in Pennsylvania.

Governor James' accusation followed in the wake of the disclosure by Mathews that he has written 12,000 women on Federal-aid sewing projects that he will be forced to dismiss them on January 27 because Governor James refused to authorize the state to contribute $10 per month per woman as the state's share toward maintaining the sewing projects.

Denies State Hampering
Denying that the state was hampering the sewing projects, Governor James retorted that "If Colonel Mathews is permitted to continue his present course, W. P. A. in Pennsylvania will become a thing of the past."

"I therefore take this means of publicly calling upon the Federal authorities in Washington to take prompt action to preserve W. P. A. in this state from what appears to be a deliberate program to destroy," Governor James stated.

"I further wish in the most emphatic terms," the governor continued, "to call this matter to the attention of the members of Pennsylvania's General Assembly who shortly will meet in legislative session, and who must, as part of their responsibilities to the people of this state, answer to taxpayers and unemployed alike if they permit their interests in this matter further to be violated."

Mathews Letter
Earlier, Colonel Mathews in his letter to the 12,000 women facing dismissal, called upon the legislature also to look into the matter. He quoted Federal regulations established by congress as making it necessary for the state and local communities to contribute 25 per cent. of the cost of a W. P. A. project.

When Governor James refused to authorize such a contribution, Colonel Mathews stated that he obtained permission from Washington to cut the amount to 15 per cent. This request, however, was refused, added Mathews "and I was informed that the governor would not approve a sponsor's contribution in excess of $2.50 per woman per month which would be at the rate of approximately 3.7 per cent. Sponsors' contribution from the state."

Mathews predicted that if the 12,000 W. P. A. employees are forced back on state relief "it will cost the state $3,144,000 a year more than if it agreed to my proposition."

Gets His Deer With Motor Car

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Dec. 12.—A 10-point buck was reported to have been struck and killed by a motorist on the Mercer-Greenville road, near the home of H. W. Allison, R. D. 1. According to Game Protector Duayne Letty, the motorist who struck the deer did not have a hunting license, but secured one after the accident and then tagged it as a hunting "kill," instead of reporting it to game protectors. Residents of the community where the deer was killed said they saw the animal in barn yards several times last week, but no one was able to get a shot at it.

State College Health Services Gives Advice

Best Possible Aid To Treatment For Colds, Is Rest, Says Statement

(Special To The News)
STATE COLLEGE, Dec. 12.—The best possible treatment for a cold is to go to bed, but if you can't take time for that, then by all means guard against over-tiredness, the Health Service of the Pennsylvania State College advised students today.

To avoid getting tired, and to facilitate recovery, the health staff made these recommendations:
Don't stand when you can sit; don't sit when you can lie.
Get two hours extra sleep each night.

Eat as your appetite dictates, but increase your daily ration of water and fruit juice.
Keep comfortably warm.

If your cold is not cured in three or four days or if you develop symptoms other than moderate discomfort, malaise and a freely running nose, see your doctor, the staff advised, because your cold is now complicated, past the filtrable virus stage.

"This means," the statement said, "that you are a good candidate for streptococcal sore throat, sinusitis, abscessed ears, mastoiditis, bronchitis, and pneumonia. These, unlike the common cold, are caused by germs your physician has been battling successfully for years."

The College's Health Service, which was established 25 years ago, has a staff of five full-time physicians, headed by Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour. Students are treated either at the dispensary or at the 50-patient infirmary, both located on the campus.

PETTY THEFTS SHOW

DECREASE RECENTLY

City police have received few complaints of petty thefts recently, according to police reports. Large robberies, too, have been held to a minimum.

Police have been instructed by Police Chief W. G. McMullen to keep a sharp vigil on persons they regard as suspicious and who have no visible means of support.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

State Not Facing
Flu Epidemic At Present At Least

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Assurance that Pennsylvania is not facing an influenza epidemic—for the present, at least—was voiced today by Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the state bureau of health conservation.

"As far as we can learn from our agents in the field," Dr. Campbell said, "there are not any more cases in Pennsylvania now than can normally be expected at this time of year."

"But influenza is not a disease that you can put your finger on. It is a contact disease and it can travel from the west coast to this state in just that manner."

The health bureau, taking no chances, today mailed instructions to about 60 field agents asking for reports on the number of cases and requesting the help of local agencies in combatting disease.

Mary Ewing of Turtle Creek spent the week end with her parents here.

Among those who were successful in deer hunting were Glen Thompson, Thomas West, Jr., and Glenn Morehead.

Herophilus, of Alexandria, an Egyptian physician, of about 300 B. C., stressed the importance of the pulse rate, and invented a cumbersome water clock which he used to measure the rate of heart action.

HEREDITY AND DISEASE

Many of us are inclined to make fun of anyone who devotes much time to tracing his ancestry or spends money for a record of the family tree and we are prone to attribute the interest to vanity. Yet knowledge of the family tree can be of great value to us if it is investigated in the right way. For instance, a study of family will very often show a weakness in some direction such as a tendency toward contracting some particular disease, or having a weak heart or weak lungs. If we learn about these things, and want to do it, we can save ourselves from going the way our forebears did.

Having had the opportunity to serve a succession of generations, I know of families in which there have been an unusual number of diabetics. Of course, diabetes isn't hereditary. But a certain weakness of the pancreas is. If you find out that you come of such a family strain, then you are just plain foolish if you don't try to live in such a way that you don't place too much strain on the pancreas. Avoid too much sugar and starch, check your tendency to overweight, and try and find work that doesn't involve tension and worry.

Let me cite another illustration. There is an old belief that the taste for whiskey is inherited. Of course, that is nonsense, I think; at least I have never had it proven to me. But just the same if my father and my grandfather died from alcoholism, I'd be mighty careful about any drinking I did, for I'd know my tendencies would be the same.

Certain eye weaknesses are inherited. If an examination of your family's history indicates a recurrence of this, don't take a job that involves a lot of eye strain. The tendency to deafness in certain forms is handed down from generations. Some people may bleed to death from the smallest cut, and this tendency, too, is inherited—handed down mother to son.

It is on account of these inherited tendencies that the marriage of cousins is discouraged. For if you marry your cousin you are apt to find all the family weaknesses intensified in your children. Of course, the good qualities of the family will also be intensified.

Cancer is another disease about which there has been a lot of discussion from the point of view of heredity. As with other diseases, I believe you inherit certain tendencies that make the danger of your developing it greater than average, if there have been cases of it in your immediate forebears. If I belonged to a family with a history of cancer, I would be very careful of certain skin conditions. I would make sure that all warts and moles were carefully and scientifically removed. If I had much difficulty with my stomach and bowels, I would see my doctor and tell him my troubles. If you do that, chances are you won't contract cancer, even though your family seems to have a weakness for it.

Heredity is important in disease, but its importance can be minimized if you change your mode of living so as to minimize hereditary weaknesses.

Judge Parker Is Appointed To Supreme Court

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Superior Court Judge William M. Parker, of Oil City, today became the newest judge of the Pennsylvania supreme court, appointed by Gov. Arthur H. James to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge H. Edgar Barnes on October 6.

Judge Parker's term on the commonwealth's highest tribunal will expire the first Monday of January, 1942, and he is expected to run for election to the 21-year-term next fall.

Judge Parker's new post pays $19,500 a year. As judge of the superior court, on which Governor James served previous to his election as chief executive, he received $18,000. His term would have expired the first Monday of January, 1943. Judge Parker's advancement now leaves a vacancy on the seven-member superior court bench.

The new supreme court justice gives to the high court an all-Republican complexion again, as the late Judge Barnes was the only Democrat on either appellate bench.

WILL PRESENT "THE MESSIAH"

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 12—In what is Westminster college's largest musical production ever attempted in New Wilmington, a chorus of over 75 voices, supplemented by the Youngstown Symphony orchestra of 24 pieces and four soloists, will present Handel's world-famous oratorio, "The Messiah," Tuesday evening, December 17, in the United Presbyterian church at 8:15 Prof. D. Ralph Appelmann, Westminster music conservatory head, will direct the production and sing one of the solo roles. Soloists for "The Messiah" will be Miss Mabel King, contralto, Pittsburgh; Mr. Howard Price, Pittsburgh, tenor; Miss Alis Long, Pittsburgh, soprano and Professor Appelmann, bass. The three Pittsburgh soloists are all from the Shadyside Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, famous in Pittsburgh for its musical productions.

Seek Guardsmen For New Battery

Recruits Called Today—Opportunities For Skilled Aboard

National Guard leaders here sounded a call today for recruits to meet the soldier quota of 55 expected to be established the moment official word comes to organize the city's second national guard battery—the "service battery" announced late last week.

Battery F Commander George F. Mitchell declared:

"We want men—55 of them. We want to be ready to induct them into the service battery right after the official order is given to form it."

Battery F, the present unit, is functioning with 75 men. Some of these are expected to be transferred to form the nucleus of the new outfit.

Capt. Mitchell said first-rate opportunities await prospective members of the service battery, for only youths skilled in the knowledge of radio, motor and telephone mechanics will be accepted. A large number of sergeants—master, radio, motor, supply and others—will be named. They will have facilities for extending their training, while getting good pay.

Because the service battery is the Army's "machine shop on wheels", its personnel must of necessity be trained men with ability to keep machinery operating.

Regimental headquarters in Tyronne, Pa., has given tentative approval to the service battery's formation and will send formal approval shortly, present battery officers believe.

First Lieut. William H. Goehring, Jr., of Battery F is expected to be placed in command of the new unit.

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Immunity is the condition of being immune.

To be immune is to be secure against any particular disease.

Natural immunity may result from either of two conditions.

One may possess substances which oppose disease germs.

Or, one may lack substances needed by disease germs for growth.

The body is well fortified against disease infection.

The skin protects against the entrance of disease germs.

The mucus membrane lining body cavities catches and holds germs.

The tiny hairs in the nose filter the air breathed in.

Age, family history and racial tendency are factors in immunity.

Children are susceptible to diphtheria, measles, whooping cough.

Negroes resist malaria, whites can better resist tuberculosis.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Losers In Elections Get Good Appointments

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Contributor

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Looking for a good job? Then run for high public office in Pennsylvania and don't worry if you lose. Chances are if you do you'll get a better job. Strange as it may seem, that appears to be the formula today in Pennsylvania for obtaining important, well-paying public positions.

The latest example of this has just occurred with the appointment of Frederick T. Gelder, of Forest City, as a member of the Liquor Control Board. Gelder, a member of the legislature from 1920-40, was defeated for auditor general last month, a post which pays $12,000 a year or $48,000 for the entire term. As liquor control board member he will receive $10,000 a year, serving until 1943 or 1945. The governor has not yet decided his term. If he serves until 1945 his new job will pay him more than that of auditor general.

Best Example

Probably the best example of the successful working of this unorthodox formula is provided by Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh attorney who was defeated for governor in 1936 by the present incumbent, Arthur H. James. Jones is now a judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, at a $12,000 a year salary and a life term. In the quiet atmosphere of the federal bench, Judge Jones has none of the headaches which beset Governor James, who receives $18,000 a year or $72,000 for his entire term.

Then there is Herbert F. Godrich, former dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, who holds a position of U. S. circuit court judge also. Last year he unsuccessfully ran for the state supreme court, which pays $20,000 a year for a 21-year term. A year later he received a life appointment to the federal bench.

Take former Gov. George H. Earle, who ran for United States senator in 1938, a post which pays $10,000 a year. Earle was defeated, but not long after he was appointed U. S. minister to Bulgaria by President Roosevelt. The position pays $10,000 a year, expenses, and a chance to lead an exciting life.

The late Thomas A. Logie also went down to defeat in 1938 when he sought re-election as secretary of internal affairs. Governor James subsequently appointed him to the Philadelphia registration commission at $5,000 a year.

Another Example

Another good example of the how-to-lose-an-election-and-get-a-good-

DOWN, NOT OUT, CHEST ENLISTS POSTMEN'S HELP

'Last Ditch' Mail Appeal Made For $4,432; $56,067 Pledged

Quietly but persistently, the Community Chest is still shooting for $4,432.64 needed to stamp the 1940 campaign for $60,000 a success. And it looks like it will keep up for a while. Today $56,067.36 was pledged. Uncle Sam's postmen are the new unofficial campaigners, for they're delivering letters to all who gave last year—those who reduced their new pledges or didn't give anything at all.

A check of Chest master files reveals that something like $1,423.50 represents the group which pledged last year but not this. A larger sum represents the group which pared down their subscriptions this year. Mrs. Winifred Cooney, executive director, carefully analyzed the entire giving situation and her figures showed that in the four main divisions of the campaign the "pledge cutters" stacked up like this: In the general division, $1,636.15 was lost through the pledge cutting; in the industries, $919.50 (this doesn't represent the reduction of Carnegie-Illinois employees); in the transportation, $48; and in the utilities, $103.07.

Two thousand persons listed in the master files have not contributed. Mrs. Cooney stressed that "many groups" did increase their pledges for 1941 support, and she wants to be credited. However, with their help plus the financial help other citizens may give, the drive will top $60,000.

Jesus Teaches His Disciples To Pray

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 15 is Luke 11, the Golden Text being Luke 11:9. "Ask, and it shall be given unto you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.")

"AND IT CAME TO PASS, as Jesus was praying in a certain place, that when He ceased, one of His disciples said unto Him, Lord, teach us to pray, even as John also taught his disciples."

These men who followed Jesus and taught and healed as He gave them power, were all deeply religious. As Jews they prayed often at least three times a day. But they evidently were not satisfied with the prayers they had been using. They felt that they should use different prayers, more in keeping with the Lord's teaching. In Matthew 6:5-15, He gives the Lord's prayer in Christ's Sermon on the Mount. Luke gives it after Jesus' visit with Martha and Mary in their home, and, as quoted above, after He had been praying alone.

So Jesus taught them the prayer that is so familiar to all of us. It is almost too familiar, because how often do we think what we are saying when we repeat it? First we are to call God "Father," a beautiful word which means much to all of us who have good loving earthly fathers. We are not to talk to God as to one far away, but as close to us, even as an earthly father is close—even closer. "Hallowed be His name," because even though He is close to us, we reverence Him "Thy kingdom come." What can we do to bring His kingdom on earth? While we are praying that will come, we should be resolving that we will bend all our energies to help its arrival. We will live good lives, the kind that Jesus speaks of in His Beatitudes.

Give Us Our Daily Bread

We ask also that we may each day have our daily bread. We do not ask for riches and luxuries, only that we may sustain life by our own industry. And forgive us our sins, as we forgive those that sin against us. But if we do not forgive those who offend us, how can we expect to have our sins forgiven? We must remove the beam from our own eyes before we seek to take the mote from our brother's eye.

"Bring us not into temptation," we pray, resolving that if we are tempted we will be able to resist it because God is our Father, and we are strong through Him. The program of the Christian life should make us hate sin and all uncleanliness.

Jesus also urged His disciples to be persistent in their prayers, like a man who went to a friend's house at midnight asking him for bread to set before an unexpected guest. The friend might reply that he was in bed, his house closed, and he could not rise to supply the want. But if we were persistent the friend would rise and give us what we asked.

"Ask, and it shall be given unto you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." If earthly fathers are asked by their children for bread, the fathers do not give them stones; if they ask for fish they do not receive serpents; nor is a scorpion given when an egg is asked for. "If ye, then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children; how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him."

While Jesus was casting a devil out of a man some people thought that the Lord cast out devils through Beelzebub, chief of devils. Jesus knowing their thoughts made this ridiculous, saying that He, "with the finger of God (not His hand or arm, you see, only a finger), cast out devils, no doubt the kingdom of God is come upon you."

A woman in the crowd about our Lord said how blessed was Jesus' mother, but Jesus answered, "Yea, rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it." He went on to say that the generation was evil, because they refused to believe, though One greater than Solomon and Jonah was with them. "The light of the body is in the eye," He told them, "therefore, when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body also is full of darkness."

The Golden Text

Christ knocking at the door

"Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." —Luke 11:9.

with him, Jesus accepted, but the Pharisee marveled that Jesus did not wash his hands before He came to the table. "How do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness," Jesus answered.

The Pharisees were very proud of the fact that they observed all of the written laws; they also expected every man who was not a Pharisee to give away before them. They expected to sit in the highest seats in the synagogue and to receive greetings in the market place; but they were hypocrites for they did not do the will of their heavenly Father.

A lawyer, or scribe and interpreter of the Holy writings, who was present reminded Jesus that by reproaching the Pharisees He was also rebuking them.

"Woe unto you also, ye lawyers," Jesus replied. They were the persecutors of the saints, he told them. "Ye have taken away the key of knowledge; ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in, ye hindered."

These words did not make these leaders feel any more kindly toward the Lord. Knowing that they were rebuked with good cause, they, like all guilty persons, sought to find something whereby they might trick Him and get Him in their power.

But confidentially, some of your neighbors are planning to attend the Saturday night party at the Castleton this week. Can't blame them, of course, for its the brightest, cheeriest spot in town on Saturday night, what with the fellowship and the music of Harry Hammond and his Serenaders.

We don't advocate "keeping up with the Joneses" but strictly between us, it would be fun to surprise the neighbors Saturday night by walking in on them. You'll find them at

Mayor Gives Reply On Pension Fund

In response to a request the city do something to aid pensioned police who now receive $46 monthly instead of $66 monthly as formerly as a pension, Mayor Charles B. Mayne today stated that if the Fraternal Order of Police matches the cost of employing the police to guard children at certain periods of the day at schools, he may find a way of helping the retired men.

In other words, if it costs the city $5 a day for their wages, he would expect the police lodge to contribute an equal sum. He said the men were retired under the illusion they would receive a monthly sum of $66. This has been cut down.

Ray Showalter spoke for the committee, which visited council several days ago and was told by His Honor to convey the message to the lodge.

Bucci Selected On All-State Eleven

New Castle High Sensational Left End Gets Coveted Honor

Roberts Given Honorable Mention, Boys Picked From List Of 150

Alfred "Al" Bucci, New Castle High's sensational left end has been selected by the Associated Press as one of the best players in the All-Pennsylvania High School eleven.

As far as is known here this is the first time that New Castle High has ever placed a man on the All-Star team. On the honorable mention list of backfield men is Larry "Spike" Roberts, the colored speedster.

Bucci is Outstanding

The reason for the selection of Bucci out of 150 young eligibles is easy to understand if you were a New Castle High fan the past year. Standing 6 feet 3 inches and weighing 187 pounds, Bucci was coached idea of a "dream terminal man." He was a great pass receiver and on occasions could throw passes as well as he could catch them. Then also Bucci was the "Red Hurricane" punter and many of his "coffin corner" kicks pulled New Castle out of tight spots. His long spiral boots electrified galleries all season long.

Bucci's selection and honor finds the young man well deserving. The young man will no doubt enter a major college and be heard from again. But, this much is known, New Castle High will find it mighty tough to replace this stellar young end next year.

Compared With Gillum

Tommy Thompson, the Warren, Ohio sport editor after the recent New Castle-Warren grid game, paid Bucci a glowing compliment by remarking that "Massillon's great Horace Gillum, the colored end, didn't have a thing on Bucci when it came to playing end, and also kicking."

Teamed with Bucci on the All-State team is Walter Gregonis, of the championship Shennandoah High team standing 5 feet 11 inches and weighing 185. Both Bucci and Gregonis are seniors this year.

Bucci is also a fine basketball player, being used as a center. He will be through at Senior High in January, graduating in the Commercial course. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bucci, of 416 Fern street.

The selection of Roberts was in recognition of his splendid work at halfback the past year, being responsible for many fine gains and quite a number of touchdowns.

Both Bucci and Roberts are being congratulated on all sides today by their legion of friends.

Game Is Scheduled For Westminster Home Floor Saturday Night

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 12—In their second home-game of the season, the Westminster Titans tackle an old rival, Slippery Rock, on the New Wilmington floor this Saturday night, December 14.

The Blue and White disposed of a tough opponent Tuesday night, when they tripped up a favored Alderson-Broadbent team from West Virginia 50-42 in spite of 19 points garnered by Ken Griffith, battler forward, and last year's highest-scoring college player in the nation.

The Rockets will have five lettermen on their squad this year, among them the same cotton-haired youngster named Webster, who single-handedly gave the Titans their only defeat in 18 Rocket-Titan games.

Wester and Jimmie Dart, both of New Castle, will furnish the chief scoring threat for Slippery Rock. The Titans took well to the revived zone-defense, and looked like veterans at the air-tight defense game, after several years of man-to-man play.

Washbaugh is risking no chance of losing a game on bad foul-line shooting this year, as was shown in the Broadbent-Westminster game, when Titans made an 85 per cent showing on free-tosses.

When the Pitt Panthers open their 1940-41 season next Wednesday evening, December 18, against Wisconsin at Madison, Wis., it will be Pitt's 45th start against Western Conference competition and to date the Panthers hold a healthy edge, with 28 wins against 17 defeats.

When Illinois is met on the following Friday night at Champaign, the Panthers will have met every team in the Conference at least once.

The senior combination of Panthers still is holding its own, and looks like the probable starting lineup when the team takes the floor for the first time. This would have Eddie Straloski and George Kocheran at the forwards, Red Port at center, Sam Milanovich and Jim Klein at the guards.

Leading battler for place on the ten man traveling squad are Eddie Ziolkowski, Larry Patton and Jim Ekan, juniors; Tay Malarky, John Swacus and Ed Masten, sophomores.

Those long American League bludgeons broke a record in 1940. No less than 16 members of the loop succeeded in blasting 20 or more home runs. Joe Cronin, pilot of the Red Sox, joined the circle for the first time. Bob Johnson, Philadelphia's greatly unpublishing swat-smith, performed the feat for the eighth year, being headed only by Jimmy Foss. The figures are based on players still active in the league.

While the American Leaguers grabbed the home run honors, the National countered by garnering the shutout mark for 1940. National League peggers turned in 82 goose-egg games. The American Leaguers came in with 61 shutouts. . . Since joining organized ball, "Hank" Greenberg failed to clout at least one homer during a season twice, back in 1930, his first trip with the Tigers and in 1931 when he was a member of the Beaumont club. . .

Collegiate football attendance figures for 1940 show a 2 percent increase. Sixty-four major teams played before galleries totaling approximately 7,500,000. At an average of about $2.50 per ticket, the intake is close to $19,000,000. . . Only one pro football game was played before 400,000 customers in seven home battles. . .

'Y' House League Games Get Start

Four Teams To Compete This Season; Next Game Saturday

Four teams — the Globetrotters, the Celtics, the Jewels and the Tifereth Israel outfits—make up the House Basketball League at the Y. M. C. A. this season.

Three of the teams are composed of members of the senior class of the "Y" physical department. Those three include:

Jewels: B. Back, captain; J. Uram, Al Jones, Jim Newell, L. Kwolek, G. Paulini, Ed Olson, C. Congini, A. Morella and J. Ross.

Celtics: H. Boyd, captain; G. Caldwell, J. Vargo, P. Byers, B. Smith, G. Mooney, Terri, D'Aurio, Lamorella and J. Adams.

Globetrotters: M. Kulich, captain; J. Johnson, C. Francis, V. Gallagher, H. Phillips, E. DiCarlo, B. Bailey, H. Dembroski and T. Morella.

The Celtics are scheduled to meet the Jewels on the "Y" floor Saturday, December 14, at 7 p. m.

Wes McAfee, Duke back, threw 78 passes and completed 39 in three seasons before one was intercepted. His string was broken by Georgia Tech.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Bits of most everything.—That new PIAA 19-year age ruling, which becomes effective next September, will play havoc with many squads throughout the state. New Castle's grid squad will be pruned by the new precept. The "Canes", however, have a ham under one arm and a loaf of bread under the other compared to some of the other members. Erie-East, for instance, loses no less than 12 lettermen. . .

New Wilmington High boasts of two of the tallest performers in the entire WPAL. Paul "Gulliver" Minner reaches the 6 foot 5 mark. One of his side kicks is Kenny Cathcart, a sophomore, and a 6 foot 4 inch athlete. There isn't another school in the circuit that has that kind of height on the starting quintet. The pair has great elat too. . .

Class B scouts pick Wampum as the "dark horse" that may halt New Wilmington's monopoly of the Section 20 crown. Coach Hennon has an array of sparkling performers who have learned the meaning of unity, our informant points out. The Cementers, the team without a home court, stage daily sessions in Ellwood City. . .

Market Slips After Firm Opening, Shipbuilding Shares Are Marking Time

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The stock market slipped today after a firm opening but price changes were mostly narrow.

Steels turned mixed after a firm performance at the start. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel lost ground. National and Crucible were somewhat higher.

Shipbuilding shares, strong spots in recent session, were inclined to mark time. American shipbuilding, however, gained a point.

Union Pacific, under pressure in the last few days, rallied almost 2 points.

Loew's started more than a point higher and retained part of its gain. Copper was mostly steady. Motors turned irregular. Most rails gave some ground, and utilities were irregularly lower.

Routine Matters Are Considered By School Board

Bridenbaugh Is Re-elected—
Blair Resigns From Athletic Council

Routine business occupied the attention of the New Castle school board for the most part up until 9:15 Wednesday night when the board resolved itself into a committee of the whole. The board reconvened at 10:30.

The secretary was authorized to pay a list of bills accumulated during the month amounting to $5,566.95.

Two hundred gallons of floor wax was ordered purchased from the Socony-Vacuum Company at a price of 96 cents per gallon.

Philip H. Bridenbaugh, head athletic coach of the senior high school since 1922, was given a two year contract at the same rate of compensation he has been paid for many years.

George D. Blair, Sr., presented his resignation as a member of the athletic council giving as his reasons the pressure of personal business. In accepting the resignation with regret the board ordered a letter of appreciation sent to him. In his place Donald W. Thompson, of 821 Marshall avenue, was named.

Secretary John B. Bechtol announced that the tuition bill of Mary Martini, R. D. 3, was unpaid for three months, a total of $27.45. She is an elementary student and Neshaanock township is not responsible for the bill, it being a personal liability. The matter was turned over to Solicitor Charles H. Young, for collection.

The board appropriated $50 for the purchase of equipment for the senior high school rifle range. The rifle range course has proven popular and the four target rifles are inadequate to care for the forty boys and thirty girls entered in it. In addition they need a spotting scope for safety purposes.

Advertisements were authorized for several sets of grate bars which will be needed for repairs to stokers and boilers in the school system.

Books Make Fine Christmas Gifts

Library Offers Aid To Persons
Desiring To Select Books
For Gifts

Classed among what are perhaps the most appropriate of Christmas gifts are books. "A book," Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, said today, "will be appreciated by nearly everyone, and it certainly makes a worthwhile gift at Christmas time."

While the local public library does not sell any books, Miss Sterling has offered the services of the staff in aiding in the selection of books for Christmas gifts. Books for both adults and children will be included in this service.

Children's reading covers such a wide range of the world scene and the books are all so fascinating, that persons desiring to buy books for young people would do well to visit or telephone the library and tell them about the child for whom the selection is to be made.

Miss Sterling named two books which are inexpensive, make fine gifts, and are pleasing to adults as well as to children. They are, Rachel Field's, "All Through the Night," a story of that first Christmas night; and Elizabeth Morrow's, "The Rabbits' Nest."

War Of Nerves Against Italy Is Rome Claim

(International News Service)
ROME, Dec. 12.—Virginia Gayda, press spokesman for Premier Mussolini, charged today that Great Britain is attempting to break down Italy's confidence in her army through "distortions of military news."

"England," Gayda wrote, "is carrying out against Italy a war of nerves such as previously failed against Germany."

"Through distortions of military news Britain is attempting to create a lack of confidence and separate the Italian people from the army in this time of difficult trials."

"Fearing the approach of winter, England now is attempting a decisive stroke against Italy, one of the most desperate of the whole war."

"The insidious British maneuver to foment domestic distrust in Italy is being aided by foreign radios and also by agents remaining in Italy whose identity is more or less known."

Nazis Announce Ship Sinkings

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Dec. 12.—Five British merchant vessels, totaling 31,500 tons, were sunk and three others were badly damaged as the result of German submarine and bombing attacks, the Nazi high command announced today.

Four of the vessels, travelling in a strongly-protected convoy, were sent to the bottom by a U-boat, while the fifth, a cargo steamer of 1,500 tons, was sunk by a direct bomb hit.

Another 1,500-ton cargo steamer was so badly damaged by bombs, the communiqué said, that when last seen by German pilots it was listing and apparently taking on water.

The military bulletin reported that a freighter had been "severely damaged by a bomb," and that a tanker had been crippled by a withering machine gun attack.

THERE IS NO CITY IN CALIFORNIA NAMED

Although more than a dozen states have towns named Hollywood, there is now no town or city in California bearing that name. The former California town of that name was legally annexed by Los Angeles in 1910 and its post office is an independent station of the Los Angeles office. 1. "Uncommon Knowledge"—George W.
